This is a collage created by me as an expression of grief and art.
I created this as a project for a principles of media class.This image is something that i have created and am proud of and would love to share with the world. It is something that I hope elicited a reaction in people one way or another